UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

v.

JUDITH RAY PATTERSON,

Defendant.

SEP 22 2004

Phil Lombardi, Clerk
U.S. DISTRICT COURT

Case No. 03-CR-0055-EA

SHOW CAUSE ORDER

On September 14, 2004, Jerold W. Barringer filed an "Amended Notice of Appeal" (Dkt. # 191) purportedly on behalf of his client, defendant Judith Ray Patterson. As detailed in the attached Certification of Representation of Counsel (Dkt. # 198), Judith Ray Patterson terminated Mr. Barringer as her attorney no later than late August 2004, and directed him to forward all correspondence and records to her present attorney, William P. Widell, Jr. Despite defendant's termination of her attorney-client relationship with Mr. Barringer, he filed the "Amended Notice of Appeal" without her knowledge or authorization, and she asks that the "Amended Notice of Appeal" be stricken. The Court finds that the "Amended Notice of Appeal" should be stricken as having been filed without authorization.

The Court has the power to punish contempt, such as misbehavior by attorneys, or to sanction for misrepresentations to the Court. Filing pleadings after termination of the attorney-client relationship and without the knowledge or authorization of a former client, refusal to file a motion to withdraw after termination, and misrepresentation of attorney status to a court is misbehavior and sanctionable conduct which causes the judicial process to have to respond to such improper actions.

Continuation of such behavior and refusal to move to withdraw may justify entry of a restraining order.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the "Amended Notice of Appeal" (Dkt. # 191) is hereby stricken.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Jerold W. Barringer show cause, no later than October 8, 2004, why he should not be held in contempt and/or sanctioned for filing pleadings after termination of the attorney-client relationship and without the knowledge or authorization of a former client, for refusal to file a motion to withdraw after termination, and for misrepresentation of his attorney status to this Court. Mr. Barringer shall further show cause why a restraining order should not be entered against him from further representations that anything he does is on behalf of Judith Ray Patterson.

Dated this 22nd day of September, 2004.
